

College of Education & Human Development

Life changing learning.™

Nevada Woodchucks

Attention: Donna Wenstrom

I would like to take this opportunity to thank you so much for the wonderful handmade toys for our program again this year. These small toys mean the world to the children. Each child is able to choose a toy to take home and enjoy all year long. We include a note with each toy-stating that they are handmade and painted. It amazes me that you are able to put such detail in each toy and have such a large variety for the children to be able to have one that is special and meaningful to them.

I have included some of the children picking out their special piece. It is so appreciated by our families that each child has a quality toy to take home around the holidays. Sincerely, thank you again and hope to work with you next year.

Robert in the first photo has limited language skills but was repeating truck, over and over again. He even could say the color green and was so happy with his fast truck.

Amira who is in the second photo chose an animal car and was having all of her friends to watch as it sped across the floor as she chased it. She named it, Hops.

Mohamed, in the third photo also chose a car, but his was a race car. It was fast and he could run along side of it as it came down the loft. He raced it against others and it always won. He was so proud of it.

As you know, our program at UNR Early Head Start is a nonprofit program serving low income families. These toys are truly a treasure for our families.

Sincerely,

Mary Eubanks Schuster

College of Education
& Human Development
Life changing learning.<sup>SM</sup>